

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight. I can't imagine a worse decision related to air travel.

I understand that there is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. In addition, I cannot imagine spending five hours between Pennsylvania and California with every person on the plane conducting business, and yelling "Can you hear me? Can you hear me?" As it, with the quality of the PA systems, one can barely hear the pilot's announcements - add 100 yapping passengers to the equation and it would be impossible.

Has anyone asked the flight attendants what they think of this idea? I'm pretty sure they'll agree that the last thing they need is one more area of passenger behavior to police.

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Paula Davis
